

actor [hôr] n. 1. Self-absorbed waiter from broken home seeking to substitute fame for lack of ability to love. See also spotlight chaser.

agent [krEp] n. 1. Trafficker of human talent evoking a sensation similar to insects crawling over one's flesh. See also ten-percenter.

publicist [lo-lif] n. 1. Persona non grata compensating for low self-esteem by controlling access to celebrities. See also personal valet.

soap star [sha-lo] n. 1. Relatively unknown, unappreciated actor.
2. Huge superstar in eastern Europe. See also job security.

reality show star [skangk] n. 1. Fame-obsessed actor wannabe with no sense of personal privacy boundaries. See also bottom feeder.

producer [sel-out] n. 1. Accessible provider of pleasures at high costs with no commitment at all what-so-ever. See also philistine.

director [ti-rənt] n. 1. Tinsel-town alpha-visionary who objectifies humans as subject matter for next blockbuster. See also God Complex.

writer [nu-rä-tik] n. 1. Introvert found alone listening to a still small voice saying he is the greatest voice of his era. See also word nerd.

politician [li-ər] n. 1. Leads the press and the public into unreality using deliberate deceit, glittering generalities, and down-home charm. See also empty rhetoric.

blue state [sin-ərs] n. 1. Fringe areas of the U.S.A. where moral decay is so rampant, dudes can marry dudes. See also Sodom & Gomorra.

red state [härt-land] n. 1. Vast non-coastal area of U.S.A. whur all them people's still got Jesus in thur hearts. See also God's Country.

the burden of being a star's puppet

i am the star of my own life people are drawn to me

i am not your mother / you are not my mother

All text and concepts are property of Cokee Studio.

Cō.KEE STUDIO™

press@cokeestudio.com

323.252.2055

www.cokeestudio.com